Collective Worship Policy

“Education cannot be neutral. It is either positive or negative; either it enriches, or it impoverishes; either it enables a person to grow or it lessens, even corrupts him. The mission of schools is to develop a sense of truth, of what is good and beautiful. And this occurs through a rich path made up of many ingredients. This is why there are so many subjects — because development is the results of different elements that act together and stimulate intelligence, knowledge, the emotions, the body, and so on.”

Pope Francis

Adveniat regnum tuum: Thy Kingdom Come. The words taught by Jesus in the Lord’s Prayer. Archbishop Beck highlighted this sacred phrase as part of his mission and vision. A reminder that our actions determine our actions determine our journey with God.

Introduction

The purpose of this policy is to outline the way Archbishop Beck Catholic College community engage in the prayer life of the universal Church. The policy is split into the following sections:

  - ✓ Roles and responsibilities for Collective Worship:
  - ✓ Director of Catholic Life
  - ✓ Senior Leadership Team
  - ✓ Head of Religious Education
  - ✓ Progress Leaders
  - ✓ Form Tutors
7. Monitoring of Collective Worship
8. Sequencing of Collective Worship

1. Theological Foundations of Collective Worship:

The Holy Father Pope Francis expresses his hopes for the faithful and reverent celebration of the liturgy throughout the Church. He invites us to be caught up in wonder and awe at the great gift which is offered by God and received by those who pray and worship through liturgy. He stresses the importance of formation for liturgical participation. He points to the vocation of all the baptised. The words of Pope Francis have a particular resonance in our Catholic schools, where our children and young people are formed in the art of prayer, learn about the mysteries of God, and grow in an understanding of their own unique call to mission. In our college, we offer staff and student the opportunity to explore their faith and hear the Gospel in a modern and welcoming way.

2. Statutory Obligations

Within maintained schools and academies, there is a legal requirement for an act of collective worship to take place daily. Archbishop Beck Catholic College offers collective worship during form times and allocated assembly days. All staff have received training on Collective Worship as part of our inset day and feel clear on expectations; training has been given to those staff who are from a non-faith background yet appreciate the responsibility of working in a faith setting. An act of Collective Worship can take place at any time during the school day and can be either a single act of worship for all students, for example, a whole school liturgy/Mass, or separate acts of worship in school groups, such as year groups/RE classes.

As a rule, acts of worship will take place on the school premises. However the headteacher has the discretion to allow acts of worship to be held elsewhere, e.g. church.

Parents have the right to withdraw their child from Collective Worship. However, given the importance of Collective Worship in a Catholic College, parents and prospective parents will be made aware of the fact that it can never be confined to 'timetabled slots' but may take place in a variety of contexts other than those which are specifically structured.

3. The Nature of Collective Worship

Chaplaincy and Collective Worship supports young people in one of the most complex environments in our society – the school. Our Chaplaincy ethos is to provide a safe, supportive and empowering influence. Faith leads our students to a greater understanding of themselves and their meaning and purpose in this world. St Paul explains that 'conscience is written on our hearts'; Collective Worship invites our students to be still, to listen and to discern what the message is that is within their hearts and soul.

The College is a strong community built on Gospel values. The Christian influence is palpable throughout the college and the foundations laid by St Bonaventure and Archbishop Beck are continued through the life of the college. We also base our everyday life on the mantra that 'only the best will do' so we weave these high expectations into our college life and into our Collective Worship.

The work of Chaplaincy intertwines with the College Chaplain and College counsellor who provides a listening ear, a comforting word and prayerful support. Chaplaincy places a high value on spirituality and as such, is an expression of truly holistic Youth Work practice, valuing the place of spirituality in the lives of young people and maximising the benefits of positive spirituality for their overall wellbeing, their development as good citizens their development as moral members of our community and to take the values given into adult life.

4. The place of Collective Worship in the life of our college

At Archbishop Beck Catholic College, worship is far more than just a statutory requirement. It is crucial to the spiritual life of the College and to its all-encompassing moral and social development. It underpins our daily life, decisions and approach to policy making. Archbishop Beck Catholic College has a distinctly Catholic character and ethos. It offers us a framework for when we mourn and when we celebrate as a college. Archbishop Beck Catholic College tries to live as a family, with Gospel values at the heart of what we endeavour to achieve.

5. The aims of Collective Worship

'A key dimension of our shared humanity is the quest for spiritual meaning. Prompted by the Holy Spirit, from an early age all human beings find themselves asking the 'big' questions about how to live a good life, of our place within the cosmos, and of God. For Catholics, the answer to these questions is to be found in the person of Jesus Christ, the Word made flesh, who 'in the very revelation of the mystery of the Father and of his love reveals humanity to itself'.<sup>18</sup> The example of his life and self-giving death forms the reference point to the questions about how to live life to the full and what our ultimate destiny might be. In practice, this translates into a living witness on the part of the Catholic members of the school: by their words, actions, and attitudes they echo the words, actions, and attitudes of their Lord. For some others, the response to these questions leads them to a position of agnosticism or atheism. However, many others find a response to these questions in the vast range of religious and spiritual traditions that are represented in our schools' (Prayer and Liturgy Directory)

6. Principles of Collective Worship

Collective Worship in Archbishop Beck Catholic College is based on the following core practices:

- ✓ Reverence
- ✓ Witness
- ✓ Proclaiming
- ✓ Response

Reverence: Students treat Collective Worship as a time of stillness and reflection. There are periods of time created where both staff and students can discern and listen to the gentle Word of God.

Witness: each act of worship will begin and end with the Sign of the Cross in acknowledgement of the Triune nature of God and at our college we proclaim the Lord's Prayer together as a universal declaration of our faith.

Proclaiming: All members of the community will have the opportunity to listen to scripture and its meaning for today; this is read by staff and students.

Response: Through the invitation of 'we pray', all staff and students are asked to join in with the dedicated responses and to engage in song which we use in daily acts of Collective Worship.

Students are encouraged to participate fully in the Liturgical Life of the College in various ways:

- ✓ Individually, as a group or whole school
- ✓ Acts of worship led by the Chaplaincy Team.
- ✓ Liturgies led by form classes
- ✓ Form class prayers led by students or staff
